Piha'ea is Hawaiian for playful, and that's exactly what this soprano-style uke is, and it'll have you smiling as soon as you strum your first chord on it. An affordable yet highly playable instrument that doesn't compromise on tone, it features an all-mahogany body, black neck and body binding, rosewood bridge, Fender headstock with open-gear tuners, and more. For a limited time, the Piha'ea Soprano model is available in an all-natural finish or a version with a red screen graphic of a beautiful hula girl. Either way, just close your eyes and let it transport you to the idyllic South Seas islands ...
